Probe Reveals Warships Sold On Basis Of "Graft"

SON OF PERU PRESIDENT IS INVOLVED

Munitions Inquiry Brings Out Fact High Commissions Were 'Bribery'

AIDED BRITISH FIRM

Correspondence Between U. Company and Vickers Firm Read at Hearing

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(UP)—Electric boat company officials informed their British associates in 1927 that the business of selling warships in South America was based on "graft," it was disclosed today at the senate's munitions investigation.

The statement was made in a letter from L. Y. Spear, electric boat vice president, to Commander C. W. Craven, managing director of Vickers Ltd., on March 3, 1927.

Payment of special commissions to various interests by Louis Aubrey, Peruvian representative of Electric Boat, represented "bribery," Sen. Bennett Clark, D. Mo., charged.

Later the name of Juan Legua, son of the president of Peru, was brought into the hearing as a possible recipient of commissions on submarines sold to his country. Henry R. Carse, Electric Boat president, testified to the accuracy of an agreement which showed that young Legua was to have received $40,000 commission on an order for two submarines. However, he said, the company did not make the sale, and that, therefore Legua was not paid.

Not "Bribery"

Spear replied that he "wouldn't call it 'bribery,'" but admitted "that you can't do business in South America without paying special commissions."

"They don't call it 'bribery' down there," he added.

Clark read letters showing that Aubrey was to pay $15,000 a boat to three persons in Peru for each order electric boat received.

"We all know," Spear wrote to Craven, "However, that the real foundation of all South American business is graft and he (the agent in Chile) may know the people to go in Santiago."

The correspondent between the boat company and Vickers warned the latter that it would be "best for the time being to continue to talk about nothing but British construction" of submarines sought by Chile.

"Why did you, an American submarine builder, insist on pushing this business to a British concern?" Clark asked.

Letter is Read

"We then were building two boats for Peru," Spear replied, "and we didn't think it looked very well for us to be dealing with the Chileans when we were dealing with the Peruvians. Then, too, I had an experience some years before with Chile and it was not so happy."

The letter to Vickers ended: "In conclusion I would like to add a little unsolicited and perhaps superfluous advice which is that I would not be too modest about the price . . . my own experience being that at the last minute something extra is always needed to grease the ways."

"What does 'grease the ways' mean?" Clark asked.

"I meant special expenses," Spear replied.

"That is graft and bribery to officials," said Clark.

DEATH OF RUSS COLUMBO IS HELD ACCIDENTAL BY JURY FOLLOWING INQUEST TODAY

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5.—(UP)—The death of Russ Columbo, widely known singing star of the screen and radio, was accidental, a coroner's jury decided today after hearing details of the bizarre manner in which he was wounded fatally by a 125-year-old dueling pistol.

The story of how the ancient dueling pistol, held by an old friend, took the life of Columbo, noted radio and screen singer, was told to a coroner's jury in a packed inquest room.

Almost on the verge of collapse, the old friend, Lansing Brown, Jr., Hollywood photographer, shuddered and buried his face in his hands as police officials made routine reports of their investigations of the shooting.

Introduced in evidence immediately was an old derringer pistol. A forgotten charge of powder behind a heavy slug in the weapon caused Columbo's death in Brown's home Sunday afternoon.

Brown spoke so softly that his

ROOSEVELT AND SINCLAIR KEEP PLAN DEFENDED SILENCE TODAY AS DEMOCRATIC

Administration Friends Believe Silent Approval Given Visitor

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 5.—(UP)—Administration friends, big and little, were convinced today that Upton Sinclair, former militant Socialist but now an equally New Deal Democrat, at least has the silent approval of President Roosevelt for his Epic plan and his California gubernatorial aspirations.

Lacking definite summer White House reaction they based conclusions of the jauntness exhibited by the silver-haired Sinclair and his loud praise for the President and the New Deal, after a two-hour tea-table conference.

Sinclair, insisting he could not use the president's residence as an instrument in advancing his theories, declined to say what they talked about.

No Differences

"There are no essential differences," Sinclair remarked when asked to define the Epic plan in terms of the New Deal.

"The New Deal has caught up with it," he remarked, pointing out that his proposal of production for use of the unemployed was being followed in Ohio, Massachusetts, California and the District of Columbia.

"I had the most interesting two hours talk I ever had in my life. I talked with one of the kindest and most genial and frank and open minded and lovable men I have ever met. We talked for two hours and that was his fault and not mine—he told me to tell you that."

"We sit out in California and speculate, we folks, as to how much he knows. I am very happy to tell the people of California he knows. If he knows everything about the other 47 states as well as he knows about California he is a marvel."

Opinions On Hoover

Sinclair was asked what he thought of former President Hoover's infernal attack on the New Deal.

"What Mr. Hoover means are rights for millionaires. Millionaires were all Mr. Hoover ever thought about he said.

DRINK CRAZED MAN KILLS FIVE PERSONS

EAST CLINTON, Ill., Sept. 5.—(UP)—Fiery bootleg liquor and a thirst for revenge—five persons dead, a sixth critically wounded and the killer in a hospital with two stomach wounds.

That was the police story in brief today of a few minutes of terror and horror in which Fred Blink, 45-year-old farmer and truck owner, shot and killed two women and three unarmed men, wounded another, and was himself shot by Chief of Police Frank Kustes of Fulton, Ill., as he attempted to blow off his own head with a shotgun.

Police said the man slaying was caused by a brain addled by drink and pent-up rancor at Hamilton, his former partner.

10 ARMY BOMBERS TO JOIN IN "WAR"

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 5.—(UP)—Ten Martin army bombing planes that established a record for massed bombardment flight by crossing the continent from Los Angeles in 18 hours 10 minutes flying time were prepared today for participation in the "paper war" now being fought on the New Jersey coast.

They will join the mock maneuvers Thursday.

Meanwhile, the "war" was resumed in New Jersey after a 24 hours truce intended to give the directing officers a chance to recuperate from their strenuous pencil scribbling and pin-shifting in the hypothetical campaigns.

George Jeffrey Gets Place On Fifth District Ballot

SUPERVISOR IN

BY SIX VOTES

says:

Supervisor George Jeffrey of the fifth district, will remain in the November run-off, it was finally determined today when the count of 31 absent-voter ballots in the district increased his precarious lead of two votes over Dr. C. G. Huston, of Costa Mesa, to a final margin of six votes.

Jeffrey thus will oppose N. E. West of Laguna Beach, who led the field of candidates in the fifth district.

The absent-vote count gave Jeffrey 13 and Huston nine. West received four, Champion eight, Sauer five and Wilson one.

Complete official count shows the following totals:

West 1477, Jeffrey, 1374, Huston 1365, Champion, 768, Sauer, 676, Wilson 258.

In the second district, Supervisor John C. Mitchell increased his narrow lead slightly, receiving 16 absent-votes to 12 for John W. Crill and 10 for Elson Conrad. The complete count gives Mitchell 1909, Conrad, 1858, and Crill, 1401. Mitchell and Conrad will be in the November run-off.

Chairman Willard Smith, of the fourth district, also increased his margin of victory over Clyde Watson slightly in the absent-vote count, getting $3 to Watson's 20. The complete count thus gave Smith a final margin of 218, the count being 2218 to 1995.

NO ROOM FOR DICTATOR, CLUB MEMBERS TOLD

The present form of government of the United States is elastic enough to meet all changing conditions; there is no room or need for any change to a dictatorship, either of a Hitler, a Mussolini or a Stalin, declared B. Z. McKinney, in an address before the Santa Ana Twenty-Thirty club last evening. His subject was "The Present Day Challenge to Democracy and Religion."

McKinney urged a "strict adherence to the fundamental methods and theories of American government" as "our salvation from the terrors of extremists, either right or left," who would swing this government to the policies of Germany, Italy or Russia.

The present government of the United States is as sound now as when it was first founded, and is elastic enough to meet the changes which all recognize must come with changing times, he said.

Not only personal liberty, but religious freedom also is bound up in the American government, said McKinney, who depicted the muzzled individualism, press, religious life and education of Germany and Russia under their dictatorships. The people must worship as the state directs; children are taught only what the dictators want them to learn; the press can print only what the dictators like, he said.

One of these extremes is represented by the Communists of Russia, a dictatorship of the proletariat, or working class. The other, symbolized by the Silver Shirts, is a dictatorship of the upper class. Neither fits American ideals or standards, he declared.

McKinney concluded his address with a pledge of allegiance to the flag, which he declared symbolizes the only true freedom.

McKinney was introduced by George E. Bradley, Santa Ana attorney.

The club met last night at La Casa Trabuco and initiated three new members, Micky Walker, Deputies Sheriff James Workman and Jack Reid.

Wallace Le Gras rendered several vocal selections.

NEW HOUSING ACT OUTLINED FOR EXCHANGE

Property owners, builders and contractors were given a detailed explanation of the Federal Housing act last night by Harry A. Lake president of the California Retail Lumbermen's Association, at the monthly meeting of the Orange County Builders' Exchange.

The speaker explained that any property owner, individual, partnership or corporation with a regular income from salary, commissions, business or other assured source may apply for a loan to make housing improvements and repay in regular installments over a period of from one to three years, with seasonal payments provided for farmers.

Persons wishing to make such improvements may apply to any bank or trust company approved by the federal housing administration or to any contractor or material dealer. No co-signers or endorsers are required other than the signature of the property owner and, except in special cases, if the owner is an individual and is married.

"There is no red tape in securing a housing act loan," Lake said. "If you give the following assurance: that you own the property, that your income is at least five times the annual payments on the note, that your mortgage, if any, is in good standing and that there are no other past due liens against your property, and that you will use the proceeds solely for property improvement (labor and material)."

The loans range from $100 to $2000. Further information may be secured at the Builders' Exchange office, it was stated.

Secretary Frederic Sanford made a report on findings from a questionnaire sent to all banks and building and loan associations, which showed that the majority of the financial institutions are ready to co-operate with builders. It was decided that the Builders' Exchange should form a federal housing act committee and secure information for the benefit of members.

DAMAGES OF $204 AWARDED COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Latham were granted a judgment for $204.08 against Dr. James Farrage in the Santa Ana justice court yesterday in a damage suit arising from an automobile accident at Main and Santa Clara streets on April 22.

The plaintiffs sought a total of $749.08 in damages, including $500 for internal and general injuries to Mrs. Latham, $15 for medical expenses, $134.08 for repairs to their car and $100 for loss of their car for 20 days. They alleged that Dr. Farrage was careless, reckless and negligent in the operation of his car.

Attorney L. W. Blodget represented the plaintiffs while Fred Forgy was defense attorney. Witnesses called to the stand were Dr. Farrage, Henry Latham, Officer Jess Buckles, Officer Harry Pritchard, James Hapenny, George McConnell, W. P. Latham, O. A. Jacobs, Robert Getz, C. C. BOARD VOTES TO DEMOLISH BUILDING WITH SERA LABOR; SPURGEON PRINCIPAL NAMED

The board of education, at a special meeting last evening, decided to abandon the plan to sell the old junior college building to the highest bidder who would remove it from the campus, and will, instead, conduct its demolition by SERA labor.

Although the latter course is expected to cost the district possibly $2000, it was found to be the more economical way, as more than that sum will be saved the district in the form of material salvaged from the building, as specified by the architects, for use in the reconstruction of the high school.

The board last night filled several teaching vacancies, including the election of Walter Egger, of the Willard Junior High school faculty, as principal of Spurgeon school at a salary of $1800 per year. Egger will fill the position left vacant by the recent death of Miss Olive Wagner.

At the same time, Defense Attorney Sam Lackman was served with appeal papers in another of the trials which came into the Santa Ana justice court last week, and the appeal will be filed in superior court late today or tomorrow. The appeal concerns the conspiracy charges against eight defendants arrested in Ballard's Chip parlor, and which were dismissed by Judge Kenneth Morrison when he ruled that they were not felony counts, but misdemeanors.

Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner, conducting the prosecution of the gambling trials, contends that the conspiracy counts constitute felonies, despite Morrison's ruling. Lackman and Turner were to confer today regarding the filing of the appeal.

The trial yesterday was against four employees of Larry's Tango parlor, who were previously tried before a jury which disagreed. The defendants were Walter D. Burgess, Roy Shaw, June Jessing and Gene Warren.

The jury consisted of W. D. Duickinck, Mrs. Lon Davis, Mrs. Peard Padrick, Nina Korher, Robert C. McElroy, John Scott, Mrs. C. T. Lewis, Gus Shiple, Clarence Humphries, Joe Kincaid, Jane Zoeter and Otto Steele.

Superintendent Frank Henderson reported to the board that, until the new shop is completed at Lathrop Junior high, it will be possible to transfer one of the shop teachers to Willard school, to replace Eggers. This would mean a saving of about $800 for the first semester.

The board adopted a suggestion of Superintendent Henderson to dismiss school Thursday afternoon, September 20, and all day Friday, September 21, to release the teachers for attendance at the county institute sessions called by the county superintendent for those dates. Such attendance with credit received for attendance at a session September 15, will largely complete the institute requirements of the teachers, Henderson said.

Dr. W. H. Burton will deliver the principal address at the opening teachers' meeting September 15, Henderson reported.

PATRONAGE CHECK-UP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—After all the bleating that has been going on about new deal patronage, a check-up on the administration is in order.

Hordes of jobless Democrats are emitting familiar sounds because they contend, they are not getting their share of the political spoils. The Farley crowd has notably been racked with hunger pains because the various departments have not opened up the old pork barrel.

Yet no announcement has ever been made about how many new men have been put in by the new dealers, or how many old ones have been retained. You can be sure no announcement on that subject will ever be made. It's dynamite.

There is a way, however, for an inquisitive non-partisan to get a line on it. That is by comparing the last departmental directory of the Hoover regime (January 1932) with the latest directory of the new dealers (May, 1934). The results are surprising.

"Most children are born with strong, normal feet. But the child's foot is entirely different from that of the adult. Instead of 26 connected bones there are only 26 bony masses which do not even appear to touch each other, being connected by cartilage only. As the child grows and the various surfaces of the bones are formed, these masses enlarge, assume proper shape, and meet each other."

"At first the arches of the foot are held in position by fatty pads. As the child begins to creep and stand the muscles in the leg and foot develop, the fatty pads are absorbed and the foot begins to show an arch. Shoes are applied during the years when the tiny masses begin to unite to form the general structure of the foot. It is during this period that the foot of the future adult can be deformed so that during adult years its efficiency is greatly impaired."

SYSTEM

This may not be very pleasing to jobless Democrats, but admirers of justice may commend it.

It seems to be a halfway approximation of the desirable British system. The British change only the heads of departments when administrations change. Nearly all cabinet assistants are career men. When Premier MacDonald brought his debt delegation over here a few years ago, everyone here was a career man.

The building program of the Fullerton Union High school which was mapped out in 1918 has been a marked success, according to the principal, who said that at that period the trustees of the school planned a systematic and estimated needed program to accommodate the school population as school attendance multiplied. That plan has been carried on over a period of 16 years, he said today, and has been completed except for a few class rooms on the east side of the building.

Such a plan is under consideration for the Junior college, he said. At present the Junior college campus is in connection with the High school campus.

With purchase of the property to the east of school, approximately 15 acres, last week, the school trustees started a similar means of caring for students as was started for the high school in 1918.

However, as the general situation presents itself, the trustees of the school have in mind no building project for the immediate future, but do have in mind a gradual development program.

They are anticipating the use of SERA help, in architectural and engineering plans and work of draftsmen, that proper arrangements will be under way when the need for building presents itself, according to Plummer.

"In this way," he said, "we can build as the needs develop and plan in an orderly fashion."

At present, under the government loan plan, an enormous stadium of cement is almost completed, and in addition, much other work has been accomplished on the campus, including making of a viaduct under Union avenue, the repair and arranging of parking grounds, and many other needed additions to the school campus and plant.

Three or four foreign trade promotion bargains will be announced shortly by George Peek. They will involve credits for specific purchases of specific products. About 200 such bargains are supposed to be pending.

The other senator from Idaho is stepping out into prominence. For weeks Senator James P. Pope has been the only senator in town. Newsmen are seeking and getting comment from him on all subjects.

Two more outstanding Washington newsmen have joined the new deal, one to handle the anti-crime campaign in the justice department and the other to handle tariff publicity for the state department.

That recent Hyde Park baseball game, in which Prof. Tugwell and Mr. Hopkins stood out with such a distinct lack of brilliance, was played with a soft ball. Next week they will play with a bean bag.

The question of new deal supremacy on the golf links is yet to be determined. President Roosevelt's secretary, Steve Early, tied with the Republican publicity man, Warren Wheaton, in a tournament here recently.

Bixby, the son of Amanda Gould and Marcellus Bixby, is survived by one brother, Dr. Edward Bixby of Oakland as his only near relative. His parents came to California from Maine making the trip around Cape Horn in 1852 and went to San Juan Capistrano where their sons were born. In 1868 they began ranching in Southern California. They were relatives of the Bixby family, once owners of the present site of the town of Long Beach and surrounding country.

The deceased was educated in the Compton public school and in 1897 moved to the Buena Park section where he was an employee of the Lily creamery company for 12 years. In 1898 he was married to Miss Clara Edgell, a native of Indiana. She died a number of years ago. Since 1929 he has been superintendent of the Orange county water district number two and the Buena Park sanitary district.

Active in community affairs, Bixby was treasurer of the chamber of commerce and charter member and treasurer of the Kiwanis club. He was a member of the Congregational church.

Mrs. Charles McComber was soloist with Mrs. Ferol Smith organist.

Roland Upton was usher with H. H. Haggerty, Arn Nelson, George Trapp, Henry Warren, J. F. Simpson and Charles McComber as pall bearers.

Bixby was in the Woodlawn cemetery at Compton with remains in charge of the O. A. Stone funeral parlor, Buena Park morticians.

D. V'S PRACTICE FOR INSPECTION FULLERTON TAX RATE IS SAME AS LAST YEAR

FULLERTON, Sept. 5.—Daughters of the Veterans met yesterday at Odd Fellows Temple, where under Charissa Ferguson, they practiced for the inspection to be held November 5, where the department inspector, Bernice Huff, will make her official visit to the tent.

Plans were made for a practice September 18 at the hall, for further practice, and Mrs. Ferguson suggested that all officers be present.

The Malvern Hill Helpers, social club, is to meet with Mrs. Jessie Walters, 2207 South Cypress, for an all day session Monday, September 10.

Mrs. Ferguson also announced that the Southern California federation will meet September 25 at Huntington Park.

PLEADS GUILTY TO DRUNKEN DRIVING

ANAHEIM, Sept. 5.—Arrested last night by Special Deputy Sheriff George C. Ford and Motorcycle Officer Ross Sidebottom and charged with drunken driving, Carmel Flores, 24, Anaheim, this morning pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving. Police Judge Frank Tausch fined him $150 with the alternative of serving 75 days in the county jail. Flores took the jail sentence and his driver's license was suspended for six months.

Flores and a companion were taken into custody by Ford early last night when the two men, Flores at the wheel, were driving an automobile erratically down the street. The men resisted arrest and Flores' companion escaped before Sidebottom could be summoned.

At this crossing, where a serious accident occurred a few weeks ago, it was brought to attention of the officials that the wigwag is continuously in action when trains are stationary for loading, thus motorists are left feeling no train is coming. The

DONKEY GAME PROVES SUCCESS

FULLERTON, Sept. 5.—Attended by a large crowd of spectators, the donkey baseball game, played last night between Buena Park and Fullerton Kiwanians, was a marked success. The Buena Park team won by one point, the score accumulating being 7 to 6.

This was the first of a series of four games to be played under auspices of the Fullerton 20-30 club as a benefit soup kitchen fund. The club assists all soup kitchens in the grammar schools of Fullerton.

The "teams" last night were made up of "almost all the Kiwanians of Fullerton and Buena Park," with original players and substitutes counted, and tonight such teams are to play again, made up of members of Anaheim and Fullerton 20-30 clubs. The game opens at 8 o'clock.

COUNCIL SIGNS AGREEMENT ON NEW CITY HALL

Mexicans Ready For Celebration

Mexicans of Santa Ana and vicinity will celebrate the observance of Mexican Independence day on September 15 and 16 in Birch park, following granting of a permit for the use of the park by the city council last night.

The request for the park was made by Lucas Lucio, president of the committee de Beneficencia Mexicana, on behalf of the committee on Festes Patrios for the Mexican colonies of Santa Ana. The observance will be under the auspices of the Mexican consul in Los Angeles and will be similar to the annual celebrations held here each year.

CHINESE GIVES PROGRAM HERE ON THURSDAY

Richard Low, Chinese concert harpist and lecturer, will be presented by the Young People's Epworth league of the First E. church in a double attraction at that church Thursday evening, appearing in a program of vocal selections and delivering a lecture on the subject, "China and Japan."

Low, a resident of Chicago, and holder of several degrees, will render a dozen selections during the evening, in addition to his lecture, the program opening at 7:30 p. m. in the church auditorium. The program will be as follows:

"Hear Me Ye Winds and Waves"; (Scipio); (Handel); "Pastorale"; (Roslinda); (Veracini); "The Bellman"; (Forsythe); "The Birth of Morn"; (Leoni); "The Cloths of Heaven"; (Dunhill); "To a Hill-Top"; (Cox); "The Crying of Water"; (Campbell-Tipton); "Waterboy"; (Negro Convict Song), arranged by Robinson; "Over the Steppes"; (Gretchaninoff); "Young Tom o'Devon"; (Russell); Chinese folk songs, "Longing", and "The Lily Song."

PERMITS FOR SIGNS GRANTED BY COUNCIL

Discussion of electric signs came to the fore at the city council meeting last night, with five applications receiving the sanction of the city trustees.

The principal item was the application to hang a sign at the Donut shop, 614½ North Main street, the sign being eight inches more than the city ordinance allowed. It was shown that the six adjoining property owners had no objection to the sign, however, and it was reported that a similar sign was hung in the same block. The proposed sign is in the shape of a huge doughnut.

Permission was granted the Cope Electric company to move a sign from 121 East Fifth street to 310 East Fifth street.

The firm of Gilbert, Weston and Stearns was granted permission to hang signs at 427 North Sycamore street and 311 North Main street, and Allen-Trusdy and Sons had a request granted to hang a sign at 120 East First street.

COUNCIL URGES OBEDIENCE TO SAFETY RULES

Rigid observance of the traffic regulations to insure the safety of school children and pedestrians was urged in a proclamation signed by Mayor E. G. Warner and endorsed by the city council last night.

The proclamation reads as follows:

"Whereas, the people have suffered increased loss from deaths and personal injuries, and the attendant property loss through motor vehicle accidents in our streets, and

"Whereas, most of these accidents could have been avoided by the exercise of greater care and

"Whereas, extraordinary precautions are necessary to meet the hazards of the summer and fall months which generally produce the worst accident record.

Therefore I, mayor of Santa Ana, hereby call upon all the people of the community when driving or walking upon our streets, to observe faithfully all the traffic laws and ordinances.

"To be mindful at all times of the safety of themselves and others.

"To encourage law observance on the part of their families, friends and associates,

"To uphold the police in their enforcement of these laws, and

"To do everything within their power to make our streets safe and to help our city gain a merited comment on safety throughout this great state of ours."

At each child's place was a nut cup fashioned to represent an animal. A large pink and white birthday cake, centered with five pink candles was served with the last course of the luncheon after which the young host took from their wrappings the many lovely gifts given to him.

Those present included Skippy Lassiter and Ivan Tournat, of Santa Ana; Raymond Alexander of Tustin; Bruce and Douglass Black of San Gabriel; Billy Holman, Richard Carlson, Richard King and Tommy King, besides Mrs. Marcus G. Lassiter and Mrs. T. E. Tournat of Santa Ana; Mrs. George K. Black of San Gabriel; Mrs. Worth Alexander of Tustin; and Mrs. George Carlson.

With collections in the building and plumbing departments showing an increase and fines collected in police court and fees collected in the electrical department showing a decrease, monthly reports for August were submitted to the city council by department heads last night.

Inspector Harry O. Crowe showed that plumbing receipts were $116.50 in August as compared to $99.50 in July. The August total included 73 permits for plumbing, with work valued at $513.83 and five sewer permits.

Building permit fees jumped from $86.25 in July to $118.50 in August, according to Inspector Sam L. Preble. There were 63 permits issued for a total building valuation of $21,018 in August.

Electrical department collections dropped from $105.50 in July to $79.55 in August, court records of Judge J. G. Mitchell revealed. Of this figure, $337 was for street improvements and $290.75 will go into the general fund.

COUNCIL NOTES

The Southern Pacific railway was granted permission to effect an agreement with the city to build a six-inch sewer line under the tracks on Stafford street when the city council met last night.

Sam Sharkey, who had previously asked for permission to sell fruit at 104 North Main street, had his application denied by the city council last night on the grounds that it would set a poor precedent, was not fair to surrounding merchants, would be against the fire and sanitary laws, and would be unsightly.

A delinquent assessment of $1.25 on property occupied by the Bowers Memorial museum at Twenty-eighth and Main streets, was ordered paid to the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company by the city council last night.

On recommendation of the city museum board, the junior college was granted permission to hold a reception in the Bowers Memorial museum on September 21.

R. J. Reynolds, 1131 West Third street, made application to the city council last night for appointment as a special police officer without pay, to serve in school crossing work.

The request of Mrs. Eleanor Muller, 915 South Ross street, for a free license to solicit in the residential districts, was denied by the council.

Since the next regular meeting of the council is Admision day, a legal holiday, no meeting will be held until September 17, unless called by the mayor.

The petition to the council asked the exemption because of the service being rendered by the outside firms. It was reported that about six firms are paying the $6 quarterly tax collected from the distributors.

The petition was signed by Blanding's Nursery, F. C. Blauer nursery, Atkinson's nursery, Golding nursery and the Santa Ana nursery.

Wholesale nursery distributors serving clients in Santa Ana will not be exempted from the regular wheel tax license now being collected, it was decided by the city council last night in denying a request from five nurseries of the city.

HIS SECRET FORMULA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE* PRAISED EVERYWHERE

Sufferers from stomach disorders*

By HARRY GRAYSON

Mickey Walker and Tony Canzoneri, down in the mouth after their recent disastrous experiences, ought to hop a boat for Australia.

Perhaps they will after reading this story of Ted Morgan, a worn warrior who was down, but who came up again in the land down under. Gee, the earbays' potent these days.

Morgan fought his last fight in this country at White Center, a Seattle suburb, a little more than a year ago. His cut was $14.

Then he went to Vancouver, B.C., to promote, and flopped.

Morgan was stone broke for a spell. He lived with Doc Snell, a former feather, in Seattle. He didn't even have carfare down town.

The outlook was dismal. Certainly he must be through at 31, and after 14 years of ring toll.

Morgan no doubt was thinking of that when he bumped into Ben Tracy, an Australian boxer authorized by the Ruschutters Bay Stadium, promoters, of Sydney, to recruit talent. It was last December that Tracy shipped Morgan to the Antipodes, the veteran taking the trip to be assured groceries for the winter.

MORGAN THE KILLER

Morgan drew with Nel Tarleton, the Briton, and ran second to a pair of home guards. He then won a bout or two before Joe Ghoulou, young St. Louis lightweight, once more made him an appropriate case for retirement.

But Morgan obtained another chance, and began hitting on all eight. He finished Jimmy Kelso, an Australian, who previously had outgalloped him, in eight rounds, and belted out Tommy John, of England, in the first round.

M'LEMORE FINDS OUT THAT ROSS EXPECTS TO WIN OVER M'LARNIN IN WELTER FIGHT

BY HENRY MCLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(UPI)—As an interviewer I must be tops, for after talking to Barney Ross today I not only got what I went after—Barney's age, height, weight, chest, expanded, biceps, biceps expanded, wrist, wrists expanded, toes, toes expanded, ears, ears caulked—but I also found out that the New York Giants are a cinch to defeat the Detroit Tigers in the 1934 world series.

I found the lightweight and welterweight champion of the world in a little smelly room adjoining the showerbath department of Stillman's gymnasium. He had just taken a shower. I wish that I might tell you the brand of soap he uses, so that you too might bring the glow of health to your skin, but the name on the cake had been rubbed off, so you'll just have to keep on using it.

"Barney," I said, "what do you think of it?"

"They're a cinch," he answered, rubbing his head with a towel. "They can't miss. They'll never see that Hubbell, Schumacher'll throw 'em past 'em all day long, and they'll just make monkeys out of 'em."

"No," I said, "I'm talking about your fight with McLarnin."

"Alright," said Barney, "we'll settle that right now. I'm going to beat him. I'm going to beat him bad. I don't mean to sound stuck up, and Jimmey's a sweet fighter, but he ain't got a chance. Look at it this way. Eight or nine years ago he might have had the stuff to lick me. But that was eight or nine years ago. Right now I've got twice as much speed. I'm young, tough, ambitious. I like to fight. Jimmey's been through it all. He's had the glory. He's had the money. He's a little bit tired of it. Hell, I'm just getting started. I like to be called 'champ.' I like to be recognized when I walk down the street. Hell, I like to fight. Five rounds, ten rounds, fifteen rounds, or twenty rounds, it's all the same to me."

"And listen, you'll admit that the only thing that made the ex-

PREDICT GREAT FOOTBALL TEAM AT WASHINGTON

(The following story is one of a series on the prospects of Western college football teams for the season at the University of Washington. The University of Washington is generally regarded as the dark horse in the coming conference football race. The prospects of the Northern school are told in "Next Month's" issue.)

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 5.—(UPI)—It appears that Coach Jimmie Phelan will have a great football team at Washington this year.

That's the crystallized, freely-expressed opinion of thousands of football fans in Seattle as they list an array of fast, veteran and sophomore backs.

They acclaim Art Ahonen, the passing-kicking Finn; Burl Buffkin, pass catcher, shifty runner and reliable safety; Jay Hornbeck, powerful blocking quarterback; Matt Muczynski, big Chicago half-back, fullback, who can kick and plunge, and Paul Sulikosky, socking fullback.

They tell you that By Haines, sophomore, will be a sensation at halfback; that Bob Callison and Jimmie Can will be heard from in ball-packing chores. Not to forget Homer Tipton, Ed Nogroski and Elmer Logg.

It might be the climate. You'll recall that Bill Shade became a pretty fair fighter when he invaded Australia, and others have taken new leases on life in that faraway land.

And if you find out for certain that the Australian climate returns youth to the aging in any respect, please telegraph me collect.

There isn't a Bill Smith or Dave Nisbet among the Husky holdovers, which list Dan Lazarevich, Ted Markov, Trig Hansen and Don Wyman. From the sophomore crop Walt Rohrschein may be the falchion boy, with Frank Meredith and Stan Coulter as possibilities.

Washington's starting tackles will likely be Captain Woody Ulrich and John Wiatrak, sophomore, with sophomores Jack McKenzie, Fred Baldwin, Chuck Bond and Bud Brougham making their letters. Verne Peterson, 185-pound letterman, probably will see considerable service also.

Guards show reliable Chuck Mucha and Frank Windust, with Warren Flanagan, Paul Radke, Abe Spher, Fred Gadke and Max Starcevich for replacements. Windust may be moved to center.

Washington will "point" for Oregon this year, to avenge seven successive scoreless years. Both teams have an open Saturday before their October 13 meeting in Portland. The Huskies also play Oregon State, Idaho, California, Stanford, Southern California and Washington State.

The schedule:

- Sept. 29—Idaho at Seattle.
- Oct. 13—Oregon at Portland.
- Oct. 20—Stanford at Seattle.
- Nov. 3—Oregon State vs. Seattle.
- Nov. 10—Stanford at Palo Alto.
- Nov. 17—Pacifist Sound at Seattle.
- Nov. 24—Washington at Seattle.
- Dec. 1—Southern California at Los Angeles.

FULLERTON TO FACE BREA FOR LEAGUE TITLE

On a muddy, slippery field last night, Fullerton won the second half of the Orange County league championship by defeating Irvine by a score of 8 to 3, at Santa Ana Bowl.

Fullerton and Irvine were deadlocked for the championship of the second half of the county night baseball league. Fullerton will play Brea, first-half champion, at a date to be decided later, for the 1934 pennant.

Irvine led off with two runs in the first inning, and the other tally was scored in the fourth frame. Fullerton came back in the second inning to score one runner, then piled up three more runs in the fourth inning, chalking up two more in the sixth and two more in the eighth.

No improvement is claimed for Jimmey. He's a young man, but he's been to the wars some 14 years. So it's all but inconceivable that he could have learned any new tricks, or developed anew his speed or power during the arduous training campaign which ends at Orangeburg today.

McLarnin may right a different fight tomorrow from the one he did on May 28, but it will be the same McLarnin. Jimmey intimates that he will rely on the crashing right with hopes of a knockout. It was different when they met first. Jimmey tried to outspeed Barney, tried to beat him to the punch.

Ross, incidentally, has made it known that he, too, intends to win by a knockout, if he can. He thinks he's added considerable strength around the shoulders during the summer.

Both Ross and McLarnin planned night drills today. They will meet at the boxing commission office at noon tomorrow for their final examination and weigh-in.

TWO-MILE SWIM AND KAYAK RACE SET FOR SEPTEMBER 23

NORTH BEACH, Sept. 5.—Plans were laid yesterday for a roughwater long distance swim and kayak meet to be held at Newport-Balboa September 23, following the unusual success of the program of kayak racing and swim events held there August 25 and 26.

Arrangements as now outlined call for a two-mile ocean swim from the Balboa pier to the pier and beach at Newport. The swimmers will start from the beach at Balboa, out to the end of the pier and then direct to the pier at Newport Beach and around the end of the pier to the breakers, with both the starting and finish lines at the beach. The distance is about two miles and the swim will be through the breakers at both ends of the course.

In addition to the swim event, the recreation group plans to arrange for a sharp contest between kayak enthusiasts from Southern California. The same course will be used for the kayak events, one race to be run twice over the course. The events will be open to all Southern California, rather than being restricted to Orange county, as was the case in the last meet held.

The Newport Harbor recreation group handling these events is communicating with various athletic interests throughout the southland to get their views and approval of the program, and in an effort to coordinate the various dates at which these race events will be held. Ralph K. Reed of the Newport Harbor Union High school is head of the group, assisted by Frank W. Crocker, Harry H. Williamson, J. M. Clarke, E. L. Moore, J. P. Greeley, and several others as yet not named.

BOARD DENIES REQUEST THAT JUNIORS ATTEND TUSTIN HI

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 5.—A delegation of parents, made up of C. M. Thompson, 369 Magnolia avenue; Mrs. Guy Bishop, 483 Jasmine street; Mrs. Harry Riddell, Monterey avenue; and Mrs. William E. Benton, 287 Cliff drive, appeared yesterday afternoon before the board of education with a request that juniors, pursuing certain specialized studies, be permitted to attend the Tustin union high school instead of continuing their courses at the newly established high school here.

Mrs. Benton told the school board members that her daughter was taking up pipe organ work and would have no chance of continuing her studies along that line if forced to attend the local high school. Mrs. Bishop objected to the housing accommodations which she remarked, would endanger the health of her daughter, who, it was brought out, has already been under a physician's care a number of times. Mr. Thompson expressed belief that the newly established school was not sufficiently equipped to handle the two upper grades this year.

The representations of the parents, however, failed to find an echo among the board members, who took the stand that if exemptions from the rule requiring all students with the exceptions of seniors to attend the local institution, are granted in individual cases, there would be a general breakdown of the program arranged and for which a teaching staff had been employed. Moreover, it was pointed out by President John C. Gibson that such a procedure would seriously affect the district's finances and retard the development of the high school into a going concern.

DREDGING BIDS TO BE CALLED IN NEAR FUTURE

NORTH BEACH, Sept. 5.—

Two prospective bidders on the government dredging contract to let very shortly, visited Newport Beach this week for inspection tours of the proposed improvement work.

Smith of the Hydraulic Dredging company of Oakland went over the bay project with Engineer R. G. Hildebrand. With him was Messrs. Walgram and Sushing, consulting engineers for the same company.

Yesterday Raleigh Harris, engineer for the American Dredging company of San Francisco, called on engineer Hildebrand and was taken over the site of the forthcoming work in company with City Planning Engineer R. L. Patterson.

Bids will be called for the dredging work about the tenth of September by Major H. H. Stickney, United States engineer in Los Angeles. Eight million cubic yards of material will be taken from the bay and deposited along a five mile stretch of ocean front at Newport-Balboa.

Work on jetty extensions, which will be done by Rohr-Connally and Company, successful bidders for the half-million dollar job, will commence within the week, it is expected.

Laguna Beach Building In Large Gain

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 5.—A gain of $8,328 for the first eight months of the present year as compared to the corresponding period of 1933 is revealed in figures relating to building permits released today by City Building Inspector Floyd Case, which for 1934 totaled $169,955 as against $71,632 for the preceding year. The totals covered the aggregate of permits issued from January 1 to August 31, inclusive, of 1934 and 1933.

The month of August of this year registered $11,754 in building permits as against $8,055 for the same month of last year. Inquiries at the office of the building inspector elicited the information that the next three months will be marked by normal activity, and that no resumption of brisk building activity is expected until after the November elections.

1308 CARS OF DELEGATES TO FRUIT SHIPPED CONVENTION OF CLUBS CHOSEN IN PAST MONTH

Associations affiliated with the Orange County Fruit exchange shipped 1308 cars of Valencia oranges during the past month. 81 cars of this total being sold through the Los Angeles distributing plant, it was reported by the exchange today.

The August shipment brought the total to September 1 to 4231 cars. It is estimated that houses of this exchange have 3001 cars of tree crop remaining to be shipped, compared with 2520 actual shipments for the same period last year.

Lemon shipments for the month of August amounted to 87 cars, which makes the total shipments to date of this variety 740 carloads.

Due to cooler weather conditions in the eastern markets, the movement of lemons has been much slower than for many weeks," the exchange report stated. "However, prices on medium sizes and better grades are still quite satisfactory."

"The Valencia market has continued to hold steady even though during last month we have gone through the period of our usual competition from local fresh fruits and melons and while there still remains in the hands of the fruit trade a considerable volume of this type of fruit, there is a very satisfactory demand for oranges at prevailing prices."

"It is indeed gratifying to review the operations of the California-Arizona Citrus Marketing agreement for the season to date and to observe the increase in returns to the grower this year as compared with those of the last several years. This has been made possible to a very large extent to the application of the policies and weekly distribution of the California-Arizona agreement committees. We feel that this very splendid showing should enlist the loyal support of every individual grower in order that the substantial gains already made shall continue to accrue to the advantage of all growers."

STRIKE BORN OF FIRST OF NRA CODES

WRITER GIVES INSIDE FACTS ON DISPUTE BETWEEN TEXTILE WORKERS AND MANUFACTURERS

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Register Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—What happened in the cotton textile industry was that wages were cut 25 per cent under NRA code No. 1. Even a common mill worker knows better than to expect NRA, sworn to restore purchasing power, to do anything like that.

When official approval was given to the Cotton Textile Code authority proposal to reduce working schedules by one-fourth, the worker earning $20 a week began to make $15 and the $12-a-week man or woman had an income of $9, and the $8 folks went down to $6. That was what headed hundreds of thousands toward the New Deal's biggest strike.

But you mustn't forget "the stretchout," an equally important part of the picture. You get "the stretchout" when you're working in a mill and tending a certain number of machines and the boss tells you you must handle some more. Those strong enough to cope with the added load are the ones who keep their jobs. The industry and the Cotton Textile Industrial Relations board say there has been little of this at use.

Put more than 4,000 "stretchouts" complain have been forwarded here by workers in the 1,000 American cotton mills—mostly from the South. The industry's code authority itself investigates the complaints and seldom finds them justified. But the flood of complaints was sufficient to lead Secretary Perkins and Chairman Lloyd Garrison of the National Labor Relations board, as they sought to avert the strike, to believe some concession involving the stretchout would placate the workers. The 25 per cent curtailment order which meant a corresponding reduction in weekly pay envelopes, piled on widespread resentment at the start, simply bred another of these big ruck and file outbreaks—increasingly common in the American labor movement—which swept along the conservative national officials of the United Textile Workers.

Code Authority Indignant

Chairman George A. Sloan of the Cotton Textile Code authority and other industry leaders are pretty indignant about the strike because they insist they have lived up to the code and done everything the government asked. They protest that when they signed the code they were given to understand that general purchasing power would rise enough to enable the public to buy their goods and that it hasn't done any such thing. Naturally, they admit, there has been a tendency to reduce labor costs.

Neither side says this first of all NRA codes has failed. The industry swears allegiance to it and Chairman Francis Gorman of the strike committee says the code would be all right if it had not been violated in spirit and practice. The industry realizes that under the code prices have been held without being demoralized and the existence of high cost mills preserved. Continued unrestrained competition would have put out of business many mills which now at least are able to break even while low cost mills show real profit.

CONDITIONS IN BUS DRIVERS' EXAMINATIONS HELD FRIDAY

"The personal result of extensive travels has been to make a very good American of me," humorously remarked Calvin Flint, new junior college instructor, in concluding his talk on "American Influence in the Near East," at the Rotary club meeting yesterday in James cafe.

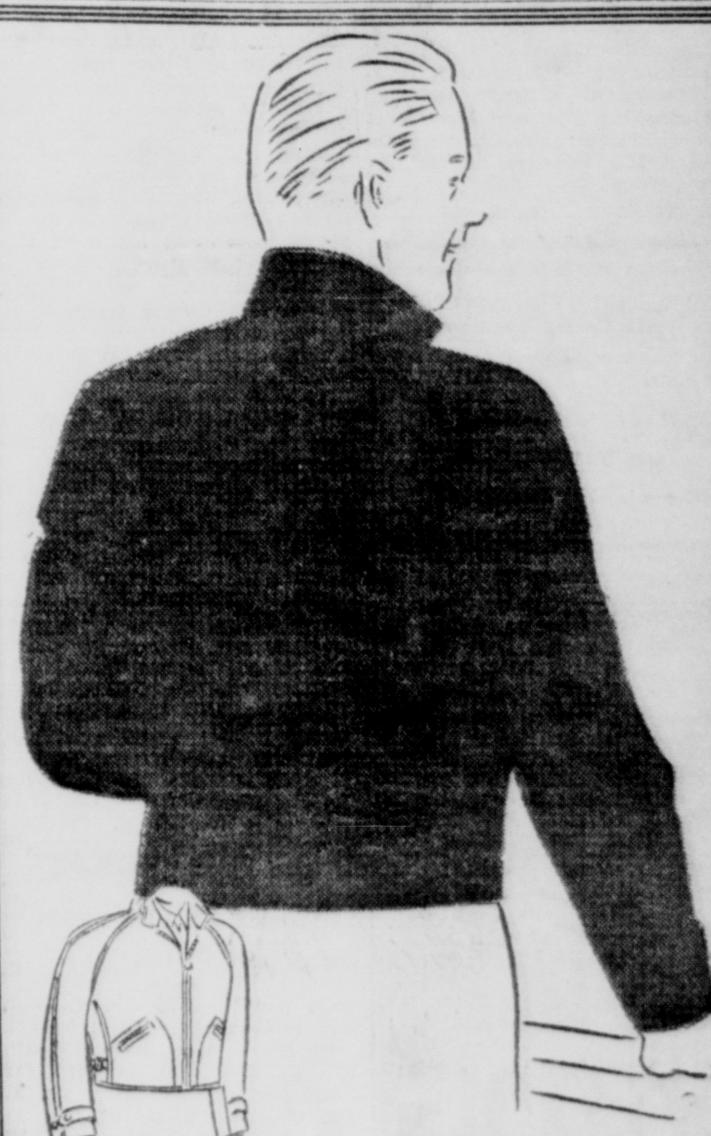

Flint, just returned from study and travel in Central and Western Europe, as well as the Near East, presented many enlightening observations. He said he had noted fewer American products than formerly used in Europe and said that the devaluation of the dollar had been offset by the raise in tariff rates. Standard Oil products, Kraft cheese, California fruits and similar products are not so popular, he said.

He described conditions in Albania, described as the most backward country of Europe, and said there was one American school established by the Near East Relief. He said Albanian students are now being sent to American colleges and that American engineers are being employed.

"Greece shows a great American influence," he said. "There are two permanent American archaeological institutes in Athens, also an American high school and junior college. In Istanbul, formerly Constantinople, Robert College, started in 1863, is the oldest Christian college in the Near East. The school has been instrumental in movements for political freedom and improvement. Many cabinet members of Near Eastern countries have been graduates of this school."

Flint said the American language is being used generally in Turkey and that many American engineers are employed. Ford has the exclusive rights to manufacture and assemble autos in the country, he said. Kamal Pasha has selected the United States as the best country to set an example of progress to his people and is trying to make them "western minded," Flint said.

Fred C. Rowland was in charge of the program, which included vocal selections by Bill Friend, accompanied by Alan Revill.

HARRY BATESON ON KREG AGAIN THIS EVENING

Both beginners and old timers who are interested in raising flowers and vegetables either for pleasure or for profit will find much interest, worth-while data and practical information in the "Garden School of the Air" broadcasts by Harry L. Bateson from KREG each Monday, Wednesday and Thursday at 8:15 p. m. It was stated by program officials.

The main source of the value of these broadcasts is that Bateson himself is intensely interested in his work, that of helping others to become better acquainted with the products of the soil. He has no axe to grind other than lending his assistance to individuals and communities who welcome his help and advice. No charges are made for his various pamphlets on flowers and their cultivation and he gladly answers all questions free of charge.

Bateson has spent many years in travel and research in the realm of flowers and all of his advice is based upon practical experimentation over a long period of years. He is a Fellow in the Royal Horticultural Society of England, an honor bestowed upon him in recognition of his efforts to beautify the city of Long Beach during the Olympic Games of 1932. It was also stated that he has originated scores of new flowers by crossing various members of the same species, in addition to doing other and more intricate research work.

KREG NOTES

Tonight's program of concert music is scheduled at 7:30 for a half-hour. This will be broadcast in addition to the regular presentation of classics from 10:15 to 11 p. m. nightly except Saturdays. Saturday, 10:30 to 11.

A slight cold prevents Miss LaVerne Harrell from presenting her regular Wednesday evening program tonight on KREG, but it is expected that she will have fully recovered by next week.

CIVIC GROUPS MAY SELECT SECRETARY THURSDAY MORNING

Arrangements for a joint meeting between members of the Merchants' division and the board of directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce for tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock to consider the selection of a new chamber secretary to replace George Raymer, who recently resigned, being made today.

The chamber directors, meeting in the courthouse annex today, voted to hold the special session in the chamber offices tomorrow in order to secure suggestions from the various merchants in regard to appointing a new secretary. Applications will be discussed and efforts made to select a man who will satisfy both the Merchants' division and the chamber of commerce.

Whether the selection of a new secretary will be made at this meeting is uncertain, although an agreement between the two groups in all probability will be reached, which will aid in the appointing of Raymer's successor.

The program is completed with a comedy, "Born to Die".

ANAHEIM YOUTH LEAVES TODAY TO ENTER YALE

ANAHEIM, Sept. 5.—Rowland Harker, son of the Rev. Ray C. Harker, pastor of White Temple Methodist church, left today for the east where he will enter Yale university. He is making the trip east by motor and is accompanied by his mother and three other students from Huntington Beach, Los Angeles and Pasadena.

Harker and his companions expect to arrive at the university approximately one week before registration opens September 24. En route they will visit friends and relatives and visit the Century of Progress exposition at Chicago.

Harker who expects to matriculate as a candidate for the bachelor or divinity degree in the Yale school of divinity will attend the university as a result of a scholarship awarded him for scholastic achievements at Redlands university in the space at Fourth and Sycamore occupied by Serene and Fulerson, in the near future.

Needling but one set for victory Menzel wasted no time, attacking with a fury that made the 500 spectators wonder if they were looking at the same man who floundered all over the court Monday.

The tournament is now nearly two full days behind schedule. Today's schedule calls for the completion of the second round.

Bryan Grant, the diminutive Atlanta, seventh in national ranking and seeded seventh, gained the third round with a five-set victory over Manuel Alonso of New York. The scores were 6-3, 3-6, 4-6, 6-0, 6-4.

Grant, not in the best of health, seemed on the verge of collapse at the end of the third set, but he came back strong in the fourth, running off six straight games with the loss of but five points.

He bogged badly in the final chapter, however. But just when it seemed he couldn't go on, the little Atlantan pulled off a series of dazzling winners for victory.

THE MEETING

There was great interest in the interview which took place yesterday afternoon between President Roosevelt and Upton Sinclair, California's Democratic candidate for governor. President Roosevelt is famous for his charm; for his diplomacy; for his winsome astuteness. Those who have observed him in Washington with the pressmen say that no less a word than "love" is adequate to describe their reaction to him. He inspires love. Mr. Sinclair is a man who is not to be put aside by emotion or diplomatic tricks. He is a man who is capable of recognizing insincerity, a man who would be resentful of shallow attempts at dissimulation. Mr. Sinclair, in other words, was a man who could test the sincerity of President Roosevelt's attitude and people were interested in the conference, the forgotten man, the psychologist and the classes in between.

Time will divulge more than is this morning told of the conversation at that conference. It is reported that Mr. Sinclair appeared pleased and charmed but it is significant of the man that he was not too pleased to be discreet. More knowledge may be thrown on the interview when Mr. Sinclair talks over the radio this evening.

Lacking much matter to speculate upon this interesting interview, one is reminded of a paragraph in the September Atlantic monthly, the beginning of an article by George E. Sokolsky in which he says:

If President Roosevelt were psycho-analyzed, his labor policy, with its apparent contradictions and paradoxes, would be more understandable than it is today. Clearly, the fact stands out that human suffering, in any form, he cannot view objectively. Reports of unemployment, of human decay and retrogression in West Virginia and the Tennessee Valley, of irate workers battering at the gates of closing factories, of women and children starving, stir in him the bitter memories of his own physical pains, of his own physical and spiritual sufferings. The labor clause of the NRA bore the marks of a purpose to help the laborer, the Forgotten Man, in the apt but carelessly inaccurate language of the president—but who was, rather, the defeated man, the frightened man, who after four years of depression found himself psychologically a permanently unemployed man."

MODESTY FORBIDS

It is a rather curious commentary upon the situation that exists in Orange county when the Newport Beach city council, consenting to make a move obviously distasteful to a majority of that body, asks an investigation of election fraud charges "appearing in the Santa Ana Register."

The inference, of course, was that The Register made, or at least sponsored, the charges, whereas in fact The Register merely reported the fact that an attorney for Newport Beach citizens had made the charges in a letter to the mayor of Newport Beach.

That the Newport council either instinctively or by design sought to link the newspaper to these charges assuredly certifies to the reputation borne by The Register as a consistent champion of clean government.

The Register appreciates the implied compliment, even while forced to forego credit for unearthing and denouncing the alleged frauds listed by the attorney, which include a number of felonious violations of the election laws, and which involved, if true, one of the greatest crimes against American government, inasmuch as our government is founded on the free ballot.

Major Hilmer, who mentioned the "serious" character of these charges, and Councilman Gordon, who spoke earnestly for a prompt investigation, seemed to realize and acknowledge the enormity of the challenge.

But the resolution introduced by Councilman Ellsworth appeared to resent the filing of the charges, rather than the possibility of grounds for the charges, which is a curious attitude in itself, if one stops to think of it. Indignation was to be expected, doubtless, by the thought of a possibly crooked election. But hardly that kind of indignation, even though two members of the council did gain their offices at the questioned election.

SLUMS ARE COSTLY

A survey of the slum situation recently made in Cleveland reveals the fact that slums are a great liability,—morally, physically, and economically. Disease and delinquency are bred in slums. Life festers there, and life becomes predatory like rats scurrying amid debris. In the slum are nurtured evils that escape to prey on decent communities. The indirect cost to the citizens is tremendous.

All that can be said against the slum. But what it costs in dollars and cents may make an appeal to those who are lacking in humanitarian sentiment. A squalid section of Cleveland was studied, and it was found that while it contained but 2.47 per cent of the population of the city, its protection against fire cost the city 14.4 per cent, and its policing 6.5 per cent. This particular section took $1,357,000 worth of city and county service, and $615,000 for charity. In return for this huge outlay, it returned to the city and county $225,000 in taxes.

This makes the slum quite a luxury for the city to support. But the question is, what is to be done about it? There will be slums as long as there are people who are ill-born, ill-nurtured, ill-trained, and, therefore, become economic liabilities. The slums may be cleaned out, and should be cleaned out; but will that solve the human problem?

The American Woolen Company built a model city in Lawrence, Massachusetts. It was a choice place to live; but the only people who could afford to live in that model city were the skilled workers, the foremen, and salaried groups. The workers continued to live in the slums. Slums need to be rebuilt. But people also need to be rebuilt. But, as far as possible, opportunities should be given to slum dwellers to make something of themselves. These opportunities have all too often been lacking.

CHANGES IN CHURCH ACTIVITIES

At an anniversary of a Presbyterian church in Charlotte, North Carolina, it was stated that the pastor of the church in 1723 objected to the organization of a Sunday school because it was too secular. This early attitude toward religious instruction in the Sunday school serves to illustrate the change in attitude toward church activities which has taken place in the last one hundred years.

A century ago there was a sharp line drawn between things sacred and things secular; and the line ran through strange places. Even though the Bible was being taught in Sunday schools, the idea of committing the religious education of the children to laymen untrained to interpret the Bible was very dangerous. The idea that religion concerned itself with the practical affairs of everyday life was still very novel.

The minister in those days was the religious authority. He only knew the doctrines of the church and their derivation from the Bible. And he alone could be trusted to teach the children these things. His preaching was of a doctrinal character rather than of the conduct of life. Of course, certain practices were condemned and certain others were condemned; but in the main religion had to do with another world rather than this. A sermon on Adoption would fall flat today. But a century ago, it meant a good deal to the church goer to be told how he might be adopted into the family of God.

The emphasis of today has been switched to the affairs of this life. Religion concerns the life of the street, the shop, and of human society in general. For that reason it is strange to hear that a century ago the Sunday school, which has done so much to make religion practical in the lives of the young, was thought to be too secular. The world moves on.

WHAT THE NRA HAS DONE

Donald Richberg, chief counsel for the N. R. A., has summarized what the N. R. A. has accomplished during its brief history. It certainly is an impressive catalogue of achievements. Whether it is all true, and whether its failures have been omitted, we are not in the know to say.

We have been watching the papers and the journals of opinion, and we have been reading the speeches of the opponents of the N. R. A. Thus far, we have not gotten much light from any or all of them. Criticism is general, but we would like to have chapter and verse given before we go into opposition.

No one will deny that mistakes have been made and that some experiments have failed. That is to be expected. Nothing goes over 100 per cent. But if it goes over only 50 per cent, has it not been worth while? Little as we know about the details of the N. R. A., we are compelled to acknowledge that the elimination of a certain amount of cut-throat competition, of child labor, and the regulation of the hours of labor, have brought about very much needed reforms.

Whether or not all the improvements credited to the N. R. A. by Mr. Richberg actually should be so credited, there is no means of knowing. It is entirely gratuitous to say that these would have come anyway. We know that from October, 1929 to March, 1933, things went from bad to worse, and that from then on some improvements began to be made. Until a better reason is given, however, than that by Mr. Richberg, we, at least, will hold our judgment for improvement in abeyance.

The "Stretch Out"

Christian Science Monitor

One of the issues in the threatened textile strike is the "stretch out" system, a term used to indicate increased machine loads per worker. While this system is common throughout the textile industry, its extreme form has been reached in certain cotton weave rooms, principally in southern mills.

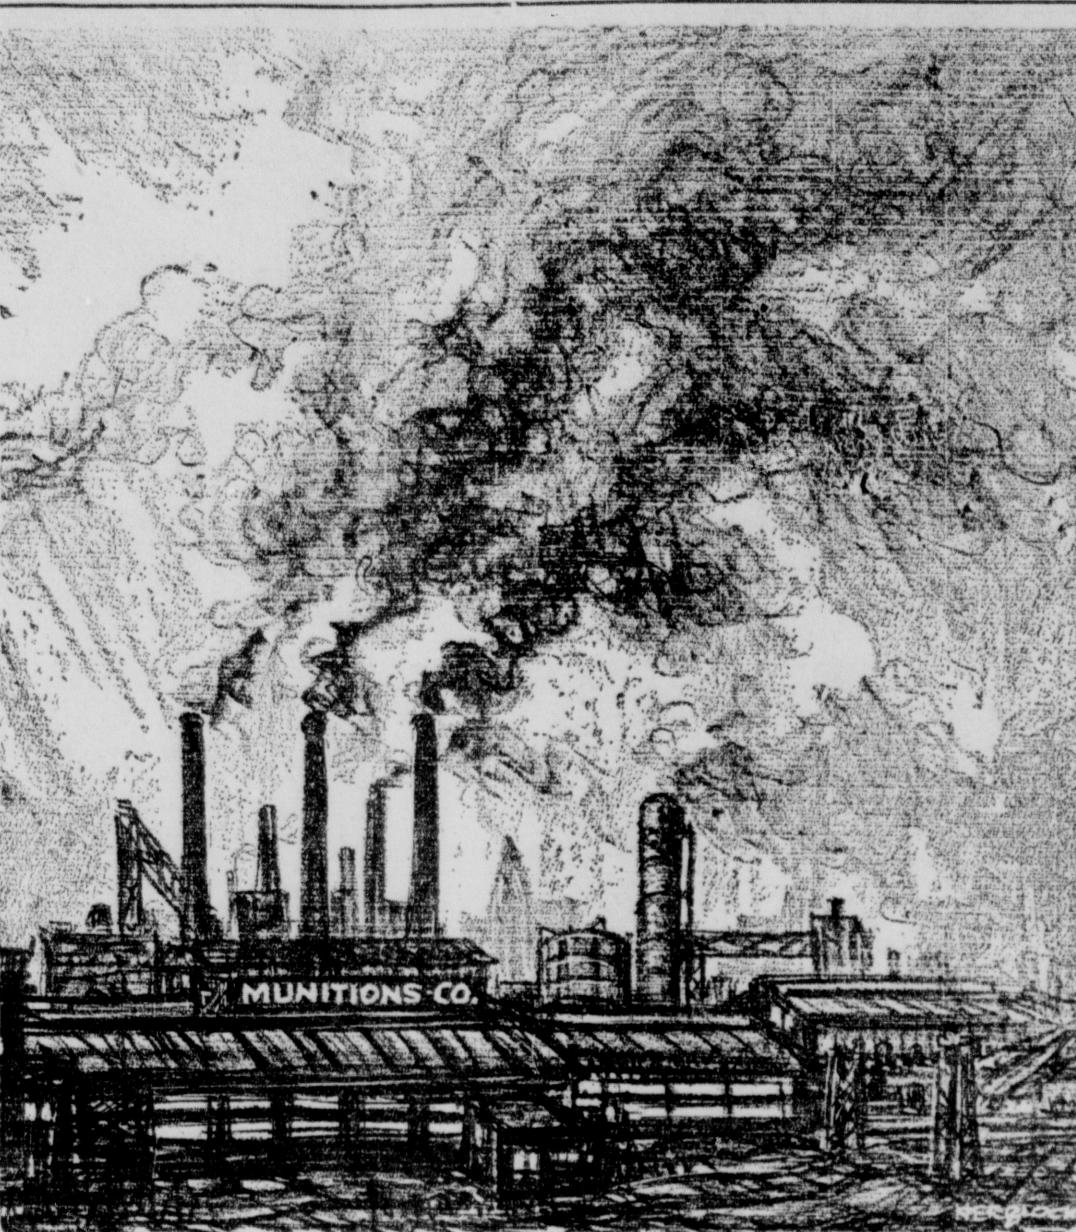

More than a century ago, when cotton manufacture began in America, three persons were required for each weaving loom, but as looms were perfected one man or woman could attend four to six machines. About twenty years ago the looms per weaver had been raised to twenty. Since then in cotton mills whose output is highly standardized the number of looms per worker has advanced steadily so that in some mills each weaver attends 148 looms.

From the days of hand looms the wages of weavers have been related to yards of cloth produced per loom. As the "stretch out" has been applied by managers, the weavers have seen output enormously augmented but without any corresponding gain in weavers' pay; indeed, the rates of pay have been cut so low that weavers often get no more and sometimes even less earnings than before the machine loads were so magnified. That is half the grievance against the "stretch out," namely, that its productivity is not more equitably shared between machine owners and workers.

The other half is the degradation of the weaver's status as a workman. One, only a skilled person could produce good cloth, but the looms now are so nearly automatic that little skill is needed.

Because the mills which have gone furthest with the "stretch out" usually are the ones in which pay are most laggard, and collective bargaining most thwarted, some textile workers have a grievance with which many who deprecate a general strike must sympathize.

THE PARIAH

When wandering the town around
Full many a dog I see.
Both mongrel, puppy whelp and hound.
And cur of low degree."
The mastiff has a noble face,
The bull is filled with zest,
But of the swarming canine race
I like the mutt the best.

No pride of ancestry is his.
Composed of common clay
And glad to be just what he is
He goes his happy way.
Let furtive mincing greyhounds sneer,
Let waddling spaniels yap,
He follows forth his own career
And doesn't give a rap.

Resourceful, keen and eager eyed,
He serves his daily needs
By trotting softly far and wide
Wherever fancy leads.
And over-powering is his joy
If only he can find
A nice congenial little boy.
Whom he can trail behind.

I do not care for kennel shows
Where swarms of people crowd.
And pampered darlings sit in rows
Blase, aloof and proud.
The alley dog is unafraid.
His heart with joy is rife;
Without one plea for human aid
He leads a glorious life.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

IF INTELLIGENCE CONTROLS

Yesterday I commented upon the results we may expect in American life and enterprise if we permit the forces of inflexible tradition to direct our affairs in the days immediately ahead.

If, on the other hand, flexible intelligence is brought to bear upon the adjustment of ourselves and our institutions to the new circumstances of the time, we shall escape both the recklessness of revolution and the regimentation of dictatorship. Some of the things we shall do, if flexible intelligence controls, are clearly indicated.

We shall revise the procedure but remain unreservedly loyal to the principles of democratic self-government.

We shall defend, at whatever cost, alike in government and in enterprise, the utmost freedom consistent with the complex interdependence of modern life.

We shall call upon every resource of ingenuity that is ours to release the full productive energies of the power age that they may lower the cost and lift the standard of living for the masses.

We shall refuse to believe, unless better proof of the necessity than has yet been offered appears, that it is statesmanlike to throw the brakes on our capacity to produce goods and wealth which millions of Americans so manifestly need.

We shall bring our economic policies into consonance with our technical processes in order that no such treason to human need shall inform our national policy.

We shall give less attention to an artificial fixing of prices and more attention to an authentic freeing of the powers of business, industry and agriculture to create
